

OEA GOLDEN APPLE AWARDS

DEFINITION:

The Golden Apple Awards recognize OEA local Associations for their consistent efforts to provide quality communications to all of their audiences, including members and other education personnel, local school administration, parents, and the community in general.

ELIGIBILITY:

Any active local affiliate of the OEA is eligible to enter its communications efforts for judging. Emphasis in selecting recipients will be placed on consistent, quality communications produced or conducted by its members.

CRITERIA:

Entries may be sent in the following categories:

- I. Exceptional Internal Communications – This category recognizes examples of excellence in newsletters, flyers, brochures, electronic newsletters or other projects designed to communicate with members, other faculty, and/or school administration. All entries must include an original or a copy of the material distributed along with an explanation of the projects, its intent, any results it produced, and a list of members responsible for its production. Entries for periodicals (e.g. newsletters) must include at least two consecutive issues. (Broadcast entries (audio and video) must be accompanied by a DVD or flash drive and should not exceed 8 minutes in length. Longer broadcasts should be edited to fit within the time limitation. Do not submit more than the required length.)
- II. Exceptional External Communications – This category recognizes examples of excellence in communicating with audiences outside of the local Association, such as the media, parent groups and/or the community in general. Projects would include, but not be limited to, newsletters, flyers, brochures, letters to the editor, op-ed articles, photography, or Internet homepages. Also, locals may enter total communications packages or media strategies. All entries must include an original or a copy of the material distributed along with an explanation of the project, its intent, any results it produced, and a list of members responsible for its production. Entries for periodicals (e.g. newsletters) must include at least two consecutive issues. Broadcast entries (audio and video) must be accompanied by a CD, DVD or flash drive. Internet entries may include a hard copy of the pages or an Internet address. (Broadcast entries should not exceed 8 minutes in length. Longer broadcasts should be edited to fit within the time limitation. Do not submit more than the required length.)
- III. Special Communications Projects – This category recognizes examples of unusual communications efforts or large-scope projects such as total communications packages, media strategies or campaigns. All entries must include an original or a copy of the material distributed or a copy of the plan along with an explanation of the project, its intent, any results it produced, and a list of members responsible for its production. Entries for periodicals (e.g. newsletters) must include at least two consecutive issues. Broadcast entries (audio and video) must be accompanied by a CD, DVD or flash drive. (Broadcast entries should not exceed 8 minutes in length. Longer broadcasts should be edited to fit within the time limitation. Do not submit more than the required length.)

All entries should have been published, broadcast or otherwise produced and executed between January 1 and December 31 of the preceding calendar year.

Special Awards – Special awards may be presented at the discretion of the Communications Committee and/or the OEA Board of Directors for any project that is deemed extraordinary.

NOMINATION PROCESS:

Nominations will be accepted from any current officer of an active local affiliate of the OEA. Nominations must be received at OEA Headquarters by 5 p.m. January 18, 2019.
